

FIND CHURCHVILLE MAN NEARLY BEHEADED AT HIS WOOD-TURNING SHOP IN PHILADELPHIA; POLICE MAKE TRAGIC DISCOVERY OF DEATH OF HENRY E. STRATHMANN

Family Notifies Officers That Strathmann Had Not Returned Home at Late Hour — Apparently Had Gone Back to Plant After Leaving It in Early Evening

(By International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 31—The owner of a Kensington coal yard was found nearly beheaded early today in the wood-turning shop of his establishment.

The dead man was Henry E. Strathmann, 62, of Churchville, Bucks county. Police said his head was almost severed by a band saw.

Police made the discovery after being notified by relatives, shortly after midnight, that he had not arrived home.

Two officers went to the yard and found the victim slumped against the band saw table, with the equipment still running. Police said they learned that Strathmann had left the yard at the usual closing hour earlier in the evening, but that he apparently returned later.

According to members of his family, Mr. Strathmann informed his wife, Mary Heine Strathmann, that he was returning to his place of business, the Strathmann Coal Co., when he was home during the early evening. It is believed he had been dead one or two hours when found.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a son, James K. Strathmann. The deceased was a member of West Bucks Lions Club, the Masonic order, the Dutch Company, and other fraternal groups.

Funeral arrangements are not yet complete.

New Year's Arrival To Be Marked in Various Ways

With the year 1950 arriving tonight at midnight, and Monday declared a legal holiday in observance of the New Year, a long holiday week-end is ahead.

Residents of the area and the nation at large will celebrate the arrival of the New Year in various ways. There will be public and private parties; the blowing of horns, sounding of whistles, and ringing of bells, will welcome the new comer.

Those inclined to celebrations of a more serious nature will attend religious service, the traditional Watch Night service being arranged in many churches, with social periods preceding in some instances.

Lodges and various organizations plan festivities for their members. Many people will visit with friends for the evening to welcome in the arrival of 1950; while others will make their way to nearby and distant cities to witness the celebrations.

The Watch Night services and other church events announced by clergymen in Bristol and nearby towns are as follows: Calvary Baptist Church, 9:30; Harriman Methodist Church, New Year's eve party at the Young Adults; St. Luke's Lutheran Church, Croydon, eight o'clock; Edgington Presbyterian Church, 11 o'clock; Newport Road Community Chapel, 11 o'clock; Tullytown Methodist Church, 11, testimony meeting; Neshaminy Methodist Church, Hulmeville, program of entertainment at 8:30, with Watch Night service at 11:15.

TWO CASES ARE DISPOSED OF BY COUNTY COURTS

Allentown Auto Dealer Is Refused New Trial By Judge Keller

AN OPINION IS GIVEN

Sailor Charged With Drunken Driving Not To Be Discharged by Navy

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 31—An Allentown automobile dealer was refused a new trial and a sailor of Washington, Pa., was granted a parole yesterday.

Earl E. Smith, Allentown, formerly trading as "Royal Sales," was refused a new trial in the Court of Common Pleas, here, but the plaintiffs, a Quakertown, R. D., restaurant proprietor and his wife, will have to take $218.62 less in damages.

President Judge Hiram H. Keller, in an opinion on motion for a new trial, dismissed the defendants, Earl E. Smith and James Duffy's request noting an exception of $5,247.51, which represented the plaintiff's claim, and the jury's verdict of $5,466.13.

The plaintiff's, Renee Lanteigne and his wife, Madeline M., who operated a roadside restaurant, had their Bethlehem pike building damaged August 7, 1947, when a car, driven by James Duffy, and owned by the defendant, Earl E. Smith, left the highway, above Quakertown, and plowed through a sun porch halting in the dining room during the early hours of the morning. The building was jarred from its foundations.

Following a trial, here, a jury returned a verdict of $4,299.93 to Renee for property damages, $166.20 to the husband, Renee, for medical expenditures for his wife, and $1,000 to the wife, Madeline, for her own personal injuries and suffering.

In the statement of claim, the plaintiffs, represented by C. William Freed, were suing for $4,106.31 for property damages, $141.20 for the wife's medical bills, and $1,000 for personal injuries and suffering to the wife.

President Judge Keller, who refused 26 reasons for a new trial, ruled in favor of the defendants.

The British Treasury eased currency controls in a move to assure foreign investors that they could take invested capital out of the country at any time.

The budget that President Truman will submit to Congress on January 9th will total approximately $43,000,000,000. For the first time the budget will distinguish between government expenditures that are considered operating costs and those that are considered capital expenditures. The purpose of this "character classification" is to assure the public that tax monies achieve certain enduring benefits.

CLERGYMAN ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF INVOLUNTARY MANSLAUGHTER; RESULT OF DEATH OF WOMAN, HIT AT PARKLAND

A clergyman, pastor of a Trenton, N. J., church, and resident of Lawrenceville, N. J., was arrested yesterday by state police of Langhorne barracks on a charge of being a hit-run driver, and charge of involuntary manslaughter. The case is the outgrowth of the injury and death of Mrs. Victoria Irene Dorman, of 5300 block of Leshar street, Philadelphia.

The clergyman, who has been released under $1500 bail, is the Rev. August F. Ballbach, Jr., 36. Hearing took place before Justice of the Peace H. A. Cooper, Langhorne. Last May the Rev. Mr. Ballbach graduated from Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary, Philadelphia.

The accident in which Mrs. Dorman was hurt occurred at 11.30 p. m., December 15th, at Parkland, as she is said to have attempted to cross the Lincoln highway. Mrs. Dorman sustained a fracture of the skull, fracture of the right leg, and fracture of the upper left arm. She died the following afternoon in Nazareth Hospital, Philadelphia.

At the time of the accident and for a period after, officials had no information on the car or driver striking the woman. A few days later Bucks County District Attorney Willard Curtin was contacted by the clergyman, according to police, and informed of damage which had occurred to his car. It is stated that the clergyman has not informed police that it was his car striking the woman. The arrest took place yesterday, with the Rev. Mr. Ballbach being placed under bail to await action of the coroner's jury. He made no statement to police.

Challenges State to Prove Murder Charge

Manchester, N. H.—Counsel for Dr. Herman N. Sander, prominent New Hampshire physician accused of the "mercy killing" of a woman cancer patient, today challenged the State to prove the doctor guilty of murder. Dr. Sander, 46-year-old former ski champion, is free under $25,000 bail and went back to his medical rounds this morning convinced he is "guilty of no legal or moral wrong" in the death of 59-year-old Mrs. Abbie C. Borretto.

Four Shoot Way Out of Prison Farm

Tucker, Ark.—Four inmates shot their way out of the Tucker Prison Farm today, killing a prisoner-guard, and escaping with five pistols and a shotgun. Arkansas state police, who reported the escape, said roadblocks were thrown up in the area near the prison farm and "several sets of bloodhounds" thrown into the search.

$225,000 Fire Occurs in Philadelphia

Philadelphia—A five-alarm fire raged through a West Philadelphia factory building today and caused damage estimated at more than $225,000. The flames, shooting 50 feet in the air, threatened for a time to spread to nearby homes but firemen from 21 companies finally brought the blaze under control. The building was occupied by a rug cleaning plant and Oriental rug showroom of Haig M. Nakeshian, who owned the structure. The second floor was rented to a children's dress manufacturer. Only the walls of the building remained standing and firemen said the rubble inside them might continue to smolder for days.

COUNCILS ARE TO ORGANIZE MONDAY IN SEVERAL TOWNS

Bristol Council Will Meet On Monday Evening In Municipal Building

SUPERVISORS TO MEET

Falls Township Supervisors Have Already Perfected Their Organization

Borough councils and township supervisors will meet to organize shortly after the first of the new year. Some are planning to organize on Monday, January 2nd, while others will not meet until later or on the date of their regular meeting. One board of supervisors has already organized.

Bristol borough council will meet Monday evening in the municipal building at eight o'clock. At this meeting a president of council will be named to succeed Charles G. Rathke, whose term expires with the end of 1949. In addition there is to be selected a secretary of council, a position recently made a full-time job at a salary of $4,000. A treasurer will also be named at a salary of $600.

A number of individuals have been rumored as having been selected for the new post of secretary of the borough. Chief interest has centered around the selection of this individual, as he will practically become the borough manager under the duties which have been outlined by the job evaluation committee of borough council. The name most frequently mentioned for secretary is that of John Paglione, now a member of the Bristol school board.

Some prominent Democrats claim that none of the officers to be selected or appointed Monday evening have been decided upon.

I. J. Hetherington, Bristol's burgess elect, requested the Courier to extend the season's greetings to residents of Bristol. Mr. Hetherington also extends an invitation to residents to attend the induction ceremonies, Monday evening, in the municipal building at eight o'clock. "Streamlined Santa" Is Title of Fine Cantata

CROYDON, Dec. 31—Christmas festival of Wilkinsons Methodist Church was held Wednesday evening. The feature was a cantata entitled "A Streamlined Santa Claus." The theme of the play was Mrs. Santa fearing Santa was too fat. She and "Miss Katie Curious" decided Santa should diet and exercise. Jack Frost and the children banded together and signed a petition which reached Mrs. Santa before it was too late. All ended happily, as the children promised to help Santa, as they did not want him streamlined.

The cast included: Ralston Hedrick, Jr., Santa Claus; Miss Ann Hedrick, Mrs. Santa; Mae Edwards, Miss Katie Curious; Doran Edwards, Jr., Jack Frost; George and Robert Duffield, "Billy" Sutton, Richard Ehrler, Philip Everett and John Nickels, toy makers; Janice Ehrler, Alma Parel and Janet Wilson, seamstresses; Marie Nickels, Joan Pitman, June Ann Wilson, cooks; a small group of children who appeared in pajamas and sang "Oh, Do Not Change Our Santa Claus." The children were Loraine Albright, Joan Duffield, Dorothy and Roberta Pitman, Michael and Peter Nickels.

Santa remained and left stacks of gifts. Ralston Hedrick, Sr., and the Rev. Vernon Murray presented awards for perfect attendance at Sunday School.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1949

FAREWELL TO 1949

Americans generally will cast few fond backward glances at 1949. There have been worse years in recent memory—years of war and depression. For this nation, 1949 was peaceful and prosperous. But it was so charged with tension and apprehension that there is no call to mourn its passing.

The tension did not begin with 1949. The cold war between the United States and Russia was already a matter of long standing when the year opened. The struggle reached a new bitterness, however, as the year wore on. Differences between the two great powers remain acute, and the Communist victory in China poses another grave problem for this country.

As for the apprehension caused by the recession, no one can say, at the close of the twelvemonth, that the economic outlook is all rosy. Yet, though everyone would have preferred to do without these uncertainties, the American people took them in stride.

Despite unconscionable high prices and taxes, the nation produced in almost unprecedented quantities. All in all, 1949 showed that the American people have the qualities of mind and heart to appreciate and defend their freedom.

We can leave 1949 behind with few regrets and look forward confidently to 1950.

CRAZY CONCENTRATION

New York City, in a region of prolonged drought, is in a severe water emergency. Reservoirs supplying the city are drying up. Some emergency measures, such as regulations against car washing, have reduced consumption by 100,000,000 gallons daily but the authorities say the saving must be 200,000,000 gallons per day if the city is to pull through.

There is talk of metering every outlet, including apartments and offices, to check up on observance of restrictions.

Here is one of the direct penalties of the over-concentration of population within a small area. New York City was too big a half century ago. It has grown vastly since then. The utilities, politically controlled, have not kept up with it.

California is risking the same penalties, indeed already is suffering some of them. It is crazy to encourage the rapidity of growth Los Angeles is experiencing—a section that has long been short of water and will get shorter.

The habit of the human race of huddling together to its pain is difficult to understand. The founders of our country hoped it would never happen. Now it is happening beyond any nightmares they may have had after going to bed on minced pie and pickled lobster.

Socialized medicine proponents in Congress admit the country is not yet "ready" for it. It must be conditioned by the judicious application of more taxpayers' billions, presumably.

ed out to the councilmen that their own solicitor, Arthur Eastburn, Jr., had questioned the constitutionality of the Lambertville, N. J., ordinance, and declared: "Because Lambertville passed unsound legislation is no reason for you to do so."

Five of the seven councilmen were present at the meeting, and the ordinance was adopted by a 3-1 vote, one member abstaining. Edward Matthews, Hillbourne Dean and William Brown voted in favor of the measure, William Lewis voted against it, and Lee Jones declined to vote. Councilmen Walter Everett and Frank Davis, who will retire from the governing body next week, were absent.

Council also passed an ordinance appropriating $11,000 as the borough's share in the cost of improvements to Bridge street from the borough limits to the bridge. The work will be done by the State.

Highway Department. The improvements will include the widening of the street to 33 feet, with eight-foot sidewalks. This will affect a number of properties along the street, including those of Mrs. Jennie Moore, Dr. D. K. Leiby and Harry Worthington. The Highway Department has given assurance that compensation will be paid to owners whose frontage is required for the widening project.

Season's Greetings
We'd like to say heaps more than just "Thank you," and heaps more than just "Happy New Year," because your kindness has meant so much to us in 1949.
We'll say it during 1950, not with mere words, but with MORE value and MORE service written into every transaction.
So at this time we simply say thank you, and Happy New Year!

Polyak-Moore Wedding Is Morning Event Here Today

nuptial mass solemnized in St. R. C. Church at 10 o'clock morning, Miss Rose Marie Agnew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Moore, 342 Monroe street, to Mr. George Polyak, son of Mr. Polyak, Cleveland. The bride was escorted by her down the center church which was flanked with bouquets of white chrysanthemums at the altar where the Rev. Edward C. Kolbe officiated, at the double ceremony, was attractive with plants and evergreen.

The five songs by vocalist, Irma Savata, Philadelphia, and organ accompaniment. The ceremony was "Because." "The Ave Maria," "O Lord I am Worthy," and "Mother at the Feet of Jesus." During the ceremony the bride dedicated a bouquet of white chrysanthemums to her mother.

The bride wore a white velvet gown, of white velvet, buttoned down the front of the waist. It featured a high collar, "walk-away" and sleeves which tapered at the hands. Her white velvet face held a long, silk veil; a cascade bouquet was composed of white orchids and valley. She wore broad satin slipper.

A quartet of young women, and a girl, attended the bride. Miss King, Jefferson avenue, of the honor, was attired in gold and wore matching slippers; the following bridesmaids wore of emerald green, with slipper: Miss Barbara Virgilio, Washington street; Miss Doris Eddington; Miss Josephine, Harry Place; and Mrs. Tazik, Cleveland street, the sister of the bridegroom. Costumes, floor length, were chosen, they having buttons from the Peter Pan collar of the front of the waist-line. The three-quarter length of emerald were worn on their and each attendant carried a emerald muff on which was a orchid, with lilies-of-the-valley on velvet streamers. The flower girl, Andria Tosti, Barry, were a white velvet, floor-length gown, made similar to the costume. Her head-piece was and on her white velvet muffed a sprig of baby white with green back-ground. The flower girl and Miss Andria Tosti are nieces of the men of the bridal party were: Mr. John Polyak, Cleveland street, brother of the bridegroom; Messrs. Andrew, Jr., brother of the bride; Boccardo, Fillmore street; Magro, Beaver street; and Garamella, Franklin street. The feast was arranged for 150 at the Penn Manor Club, following the ceremony and a reception was held there. When the leave for three weeks trip to Florida, Mrs. Polyak will be at a barge suit with head trim; a cape, hat of variegated green with trim of green veiling; accessories, and she will wear white orchids. The two will be at 342 Monroe street.

of Mrs. Moore, mother of the bride, consisted of a two-piece dress with lime trim, lime felt hat, white gloves, black shoes, and a white orchid worn corsage. Mrs. Polyak, mother of the bridegroom, selected for the bride a black dress trimmed in blue, black hat and slippers, gloves, and a white orchid.

The bride is an employee of Philco at Croydon; and the bridegroom is a clerk at the Pennsylvania State Penitentiary.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Edward C. Kolbe
Pastor
St. Luke's Lutheran Church
Croydon

Simeon, the aged patriarch, said: "Lord, now lettest Thou Thy servant depart in peace, according to Thy word." He had been told that he should not die until he had seen the Lord's Christ; now he had seen Him, and he was ready.

The close of the year is upon us. We think of the end of all things. We think of the end of our own life. Will this be our last year? Who knows?

We should know that we are ready to depart in peace at any time if we have honestly repented and truly received the Christ-child into our heart and life. We should have no fears. Simeon was ready to depart.

Having this readiness to depart settled, we should face the new year determined to live more loyally, to support more faithfully, to trust more implicitly, this great God who in answer to our eternal need sent His Son to save us.

Help us to do this, O God. Amen.

Steel Mill Site Stretches Eight Miles Along River

This map shows the location of the 3,800 acres of land which are being purchased by the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation for the possible location of a new steel mill. The tract includes all of the farmland and homesites located between the heavy black line and the river bank. The tract begins a half mile below the Morrisville borough limits and extends southward to a point near Pennsbury. —(Courtesy Trenton Times)

Suggest Limit On Period For Parking

and will be an undue expense to the borough.

Dr. Yutler suggested a two hour parking limit, and Mr. Texter proposed setting a limit of one hour. He also suggested that this be done through the use of signs without meters.

Mr. Biehn said he favors a time limit on West End parking without the use of meters. He suggested that parking places be marked off to prevent crowding and that the police inspect cars in order to determine whether they had been moved since the last parking inspection.

Burgess Scholes and Chief of Police Newton B. Rapp reminded the business men that these proposals would require additional manpower on the police force to check on parking. Chief Rapp also explained that there is no way of determining whether or not a car has been moved in the meantime. Tire marking said Chief Rapp, cannot be used as conclusive proof that a motorist has not driven away and returned to the same spot during the absence of the police.

One of the problems of the West End, said Councilman Butler, chairman of the police committee, centers around the commuters who work out of town but park their cars near the trolley station, and in this way congest the intersection.

The suggestions made by the business men will be taken up at the meeting of council next week.

by suggesting a settlement of damages at $5,247.51, the original claim. Instead of the verdict, $5,466.13. James Duffy, driver of the car, failed to attend the trial here.

John E. Adams, 18, of Washington, this state, a sailor, who is stationed at NADS, Johnsville, and was in prison here, since Nov. 19, was granted a parole on condition that he pay more than $500 in damages out of his $50 a month Navy pay.

Adams, who pleaded guilty to drunken driving and crashing into one car, which struck another, involving him in a three-car accident Nov. 19, near Hartsville, will not be discharged from the Navy, but allowed to finish his remaining 18 months enlistment.

The minor-defendant, who pleaded guilty to drinking in the enlisted men's club at the Willow Grove Naval Air Station and then "joy-riding" with three other sailors, was paroled by Judge Edward G. Blester and President Judge Hiram H. Keller on condition that he pay $326 damages to Fred Dege and $200 to Morris Snyder, Jenkintown motorists whose cars he damaged.

LA. Earl N. White, NADS personnel officer, informed the Court that a communication from the Navy, Washington, D. C., revealed that the defendant will be retained in the service.

Adams, who was sentenced to serve not less than one month more than a year in prison, released on condition that he arrangements with Probationer Horace E. Gwinner to pay damages monthly and refrain drinking since he is still a 1. His minimum sentence expires yesterday.

A TURN OF A ½ CENTURY Does mean a great deal to us, even though we are so old we've lost track of our age: but we do know we've been here since Great Grandfather started a little Country yard, over 100 years ago. We are still just a little country yard, getting the biggest "BANG" out of keeping old friends and gaining new ones.
